Dear Partners,

2013 was another year of growth and expansion for Nehemiah. Through the efforts of our amazing staff team, helpful trustees, dedicated volunteers and generous donors we expanded several of our current programs and laid the groundwork to launch some new ones.

2013 was also a year of empowerment. Nehemiah launched new initiatives involving the formerly-incarcerated (ex-offender) community. In the past we have housed ex-offenders and given some of them life coaching. Most recently we have hired some of these men as Reentry and Recovery Coaches who help us empower and resource men who are returning to our community from prison. We hired a new reentry and employment director who placed over 80 men in meaningful jobs this year. This is amazing! We are transforming the face of leadership in our community by allowing men who have been in prison to be employed by us and empowered to resource other men who are returning to the community as well. Men who used to be problematic in our community are now part of our solution.

Nehemiah continues to offer our culturally-relevant and inspiring programs to children and youth in our communities. We realize that it is never too early to begin developing new leaders. Thank you for helping us do so.

I am looking forward to what faith will create in and through us in the next few years.

Dear Partners,

2013 was another year of growth and expansion for Nehemiah. Through the efforts of our amazing staff team, helpful trustees, dedicated volunteers and generous donors, we expanded several of our current programs and laid the groundwork to launch some new ones.

2013 was also a year of empowerment. Nehemiah launched new initiatives involving the formerly-incarcerated (ex-offender) community. In the past, we have housed ex-offenders and given some of them life coaching. Most recently, we have hired some of these men as Reentry and Recovery Coaches who help us empower and resource men who are returning to our community from prison. We hired a new reentry and employment director who placed over 80 men in meaningful jobs this year. This is amazing! We are transforming the face of leadership in our community by allowing men who have been in prison to be employed by us and empowered to resource other men who are returning to the community as well. Men who used to be problematic in our community are now part of our solution.

Nehemiah continues to offer our culturally-relevant and inspiring programs to children and youth in our communities. We realize that it is never too early to begin developing new leaders. Thank you for helping us do so.

I am looking forward to what faith will create in and through us in the next few years.
